[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Mexico City, Mex., Oct. 22.—The rebel movement under Gen. Felix Diaz is generally regarded here as dwindling in strength. There has been no general congregation as was expected in many quarters at the start of the rebellion, although there was a strong suspicion that many government officials and employees, as well as army men, are simply awaiting the trend of events to espouse the winning side. The result of the expected conflict between the rebel and federal troops at Vera Cruz is anxiously awaited on all sides and it will have much to do with swaying the wavering elements of the population.

No Demonstration at Railroad Station in Response to Physician's Wishes—Children Send Flowers.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Oyster Bay, Oct. 22.—Flowers were sent to Sagamore Hill by the school children of Nassau county and were the only tokens of a public welcome planned for the home-coming today of Colonel Roosevelt. Out of consideration of the colonel's health, arrangements for a demonstration at the railway station on the arrival of his train were abandoned. A gathering of school children, armed with flags, the erection of an arch of welcome and a muster of the Oyster Bay Progressive club had been proposed, but the plans were given up when telegrams were received from Dr. Lambert, Colonel Roosevelt's physician, and from Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., expressing the hope that in view of the circumstances the townspeople would refrain from any organized demonstration.

To Sagamore Hill.

Syossett, L. I., Oct. 22.—Theodore Roosevelt and party arrived here at 9:30 this morning. This place is four miles south of Oyster Bay and the train was routed thither in order to avoid any crowd. Justice, Goff taking matters in his own hands, reopened the testimony and recalled to the stand "Jack" Sullivan, who had previously testified for the defense. Vigorous objections of John S. McIntyre, chief counsel for Becker, were disregarded. The action of the defense in announcing that it desired to rest was sudden and unexpected. Mr. McIntyre had said less than an hour before that he expected to call the stand. The morning session had been taken up mainly with the testimony introduced to sustain the contention of the defense that the informers, Rose, Webber, Vallon and Schepps had "framed up" with Becker to save themselves.

On the other hand think of the number that pass before the Gazette "Want Ad" page; 30,000 daily. Place the two numbers in your mind and then reason for yourself which is the better. Demand Surrender.

Vera Cruz, Mex., Oct. 22.—A demand for the surrender of the city was sent yesterday by Gen. Beltran to the commander of the federal troops. The letter was brought to the rebel line by Captain Limon and was couched in the most polite terms, concluding with the intimation that if the rebels did not surrender duty would oblige the federal commanders to use force.

Captain Hughes has conferred with Commodore Azueta, the federal naval commander, as to what would be his attitude during the fighting. Commodore Azueta promised not to participate nor to fire in the direction of the city.

Captain Hughes then warned the commodore that any breach of his promise would be considered a hostile act toward the United States. Commodore Azueta will keep the guns of Olvera in order to prevent prisoners escaping from the jail.

DISCUSSED PHASES OF THE CIVIC PROBLEMS

MASS MEETING HELD AT UNITED BRETHREN CHURCH LAST EVENING.

CRIME AND ITS CURE

Reasons for Betterment of Conditions, Need of Safeguarding Young, and Similar Subjects Were Discussed.

Civic conditions in Janesville, their causes and the remedies for existing evils were discussed last evening at a public mass meeting held in the United Brethren church under the auspices of the Otterbein Brotherhood. P. J. Van Pool presided over the meeting.

"Why I Long for Better Government," was discussed by A. B. Matheson. "My first reason," said Mr. Matheson, is a very general one, and might apply to the conditions in any city or any place where I might make my residence. I feel that man should live in harmony with God and wherever you find sin that harmony is broken. God has given us many things to enjoy and nature has provided man with that which should make his life clean and wholesome. We have splendid bodies, most of us, and if we will care for them they are strong and capable of enduring great things. It is in our minds, however, that we are weak. Now if men will pervert all these things and debauch themselves with sin, we are out of fellowship with the Creator.

"Up and down our streets there is so much to contaminate and debauch that we get out of harmony with God and the universe. I long for betterment that we may enjoy the things God has given us to enjoy." As examples of the way in which things were going wrong, Mr. Matheson spoke of the men with families who debauch themselves by vicious living and give themselves over to contamination and vice, and the young men of the city who are giving their time to things they should not.

"I long for better things in Janesville because Janesville is the home of my children," he said. "You and I, who are parents, want the very best things for our children and our hearts long that they may be saved from temptation. Not only my children and your children but the children of all the mothers and fathers in Janesville. I believe the time is ripe for a great moral and civic quickening.

Discussing the present government, Mr. Matheson stated that he believed conditions were no worse, and he believed better than before the commission form of government was adopted, in that there were three men in charge on whom the responsibility could be fixed, whereas before when one man was blamed he laid the responsibility onto another, and it was hard to fix the blame on anyone. He advocated patience with the commission form of government, and urged about the citizens to support them and help them to bring about good and wholesome conditions.

"We have reached a stage where evil is more rife than it should be in any city, to say nothing of the number of churches and means of doing good that Janesville has," was the statement of W. J. Cannon in discussing "The Duty of the Citizens in Regard to Vice Conditions." As a means of lessening the evil rampant in the city at the present time, he suggested that when a new commissioner is elected to the city council two years hence, instead of selecting one, have the citizens unite upon a man who could bring about the desired reforms. He also urged that the citizens uphold the committee of fifteen and let them know that the citizens stand back of them. In regard to the part of the police in the existing state of affairs, he said, "It is the duty of the police officers to see these evils. They may be doing the best they can, and yet I don't think we can fix the whole responsibility on them. The police officers will obey the power above them, and that power is the citizenry elect."

As to saloons he said, "I understand that there are some saloonkeepers who are trying to abide by the law in this city, and as the people of this city have voted for saloons, don't let us prosecute these men but let us be ready to prosecute wherever the law is disobeyed."

Speaking on the subject, "How Can We Best Safeguard the Youth of Our City?" Supt. H. C. Buell of the public schools, said that the parents of the city have a great responsibility in safeguarding the children. "If we want to save our own children," he said, "we must also save those of our neighbors. I believe it is our duty as parents to be interested in what they are doing, and I think it is a terrible tragedy when the father ceases to be the boy's best companion and the mother ceases to be the best chum of her daughter."

"We must do more in the public schools," he said, "more in the line of reading, introducing the best of literature. We must do more in co-operation with and supervision of their play. We must do something to interest the boys in supervised play." Mr. Buell spoke in favor of the playgrounds, and praised the work of the Y. M. C. A., but said that what the Y. M. C. A. is doing for some boys must be done for all the boys in the community.

Quite a tribute to the work of the police department was paid by the speaker. "We have a splendid protection of property by the police in our city and they are ready to go into the jaws of death itself to protect our lives, but in the matter of vice we are asking too much of them. We license fifty-six saloons in this city, and keep the police on the jump to handle the drunks that come out of them."

"I believe one member of the police force should be assigned to look after juvenile vice and crime, and a juvenile court, such as they have in some cities, might not be a bad idea."

"I think," said the speaker, "that we are ready to insist on a specific, definite propaganda of reform. I believe we are ready to say, 'Abolish the gambling devices held out to the boys of our city.' I believe we are ready to enforce the law as to pool rooms and the presence of minors in them. It goes without question that the saloons have got to stop selling liquor to minors, and with these matters in hand I think the churches can be made more effective in their appeal to the young people."

"I think we are ready to care for the neglected boys and girls who have left school, to give them a chance to continue their work in industrial schools. It isn't so much keeping the young people from doing the things they should not, but giving them something to do that is good, that is going to solve the problem."

Several causes of crime were given by John W. Peters, who talked on the subject, "The Cause of Crime in Our City." One of these he said, was heredity, children placed in poor surroundings where the influences are debasing, the parents quarrel, use bad language, tell bad stories and create a contempt for the law. Parents, he declared, are not bringing up their children right when they allow them to run at large, and girls thirteen to fourteen years of age may be seen running around the streets at ten o'clock at night with young men hanging to their arms. "When the young girls appear on the streets," he said, "they are dressed as if going to a party, with their banana-peel skirts, their white shoes, and the hats which look like flower gardens. All of which tends to attract the attention of the young men, and some of the older ones too."

The police department, he said, was performing its duty in a dilatory manner by not arresting the men who were selling liquor to minors, and if they would occasionally drop into the saloons, they would see the women and minors drinking there. He criticized the present fire and police law by which policemen held their positions for life, saying that there is no inducement to a policeman to try and do his best when he knows there will be no promotion for him, unless someone else is taken out.

Woman's suffrage as one of the ways in which to solve the difficulties of the present situation was the idea advanced by John C. Osborn. "There is a great ambition among the ladies," he said, "to be allowed to vote. I do not think it would make a great deal of difference in the political situation and I believe in them lies the solution of the civic questions. They wouldn't be afraid to vote their sentiments because they might be afraid of losing their jobs. There is one disadvantage, however. The law says that a person must be twenty years of age before he can vote, and I am a little afraid that before some of the ladies would admit they were of age, they would be so old they would have lost all interest in politics."

Conditions in the home where the parents' laws are considered a joke, he described, and said caused the young men to grow to manhood without any respect for the law. He suggested the formation of a society for boys—not a society too high—but one whose by-laws should require that the members would not go into any place of amusement where they would see any girls, nor would they want their mothers to hear. In addition to licensing the saloons, he suggested that every man who desired to drink, have to come before a board and apply for a license, and that the saloonkeepers sell only to men who had licenses. "I believe," said he, "in the co-operation of every citizen of Janesville with the police and executives and until we do that, I don't think we can criticize them very much. If we secure evidence of violations of the law, let it to the police and if they refuse to take charge of it, then we can enter charges against them and drive them out."

Rev. C. J. Roberts spoke a few words of thanks on behalf of the brotherhood, to the speakers and to the audience, and the meeting was closed with a prayer.

A delicious supper was served in the basement of the church by the ladies of the church, previous to the opening of the mass meeting.

IF TONGUE IS COATED, BREATH BAD, STOMACH SOUR IT MEANS A TORPID LIVER AND CLOGGED BOWELS.

Mother! Don't scold your cross, peevish child. Look at the tongue! See if it is white, yellow and coated! If your child is listless, drooping, isn't sleeping well, is restless, doesn't eat heartily or is cross, irritable, out of sorts with everybody, stomach sour, feverish, breath bad, has stomach ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, or is full of cold, it means the little one's stomach, liver and 30 feet of bowels are filled with poisons and foul, constipated waste matter and need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

Give a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs, and in a few hours all the clogged up waste, undigested food and sour, flatulent, gassy bowels without nausea, griping or weakness, and you will surely have a well, happy and smiling child again shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children, being composed entirely of delicious figs, senna and aromatics it cannot be harmful, besides they dearly love its delicious taste.

Mothers should always keep Syrup of Figs handy. It is the only stomach, liver and bowel cleanser and regulator needed—a little given today will save a sick child tomorrow.

They expect to take up arms with their mother country against Turkey. The Greeks were the only men employed by the road for the laying of the tracks in this city and work will be suspended for a time.

The shortage of cars that is felt all over the country is not, as the present rumors have it, due to the fact that the local men on this road say that owing to the many divisions passing through this city that they are able to obtain all the cars that are necessary.

In 1852 Mr. Cowles married Margaret Gardner, whose death occurred about two years ago, and in 1854 they came to East Troy, Wis., where they resided several years. Returning east they remained until the year 1899, when they came to Janesville, where some of their children were residing. He united with the Congregational church while living in East Troy, and was very active in church work until failing health prevented, during this time having been Sunday school superintendent for more than twenty years. One of the noticeable features of his life was his keen interest in public affairs, not only national, but international.

He was a great reader and thoroughly conversant with every topic of world wide concern—retaining his interest until the very last.

The children are Irving. Cowles of Denver, Colo., Mrs. E. G. Smith of Knoxville, N. Y., Mrs. J. S. Fifield, Misses L. E. Cowles and N. T. Cowles all of Janesville.

Sport Snap Shots

by Don McCarty

The Pleasanton football team from Glacier National Park recently defeated the Mandan Indians of northeastern Montana in an exciting game, the final score being 3 to 0. Here are the names of some of the players: Spotted Blanket, Long Feather, Henry Headless, Wolf Pup, Yellow Head and Tom Lazy Boy. Some of the players were formerly members of the Carlisle Indian school team.

"Helmy" Heilmuller, right fielder for the Los Angeles Pacific Coast league team, is dead. Two years ago he played with the Philadelphia Americans.

Eppa Rixey, Jr., the Phillies' famous dinkpaw, is going to return to the University of Virginia and get another degree. He'll be back in the game next season.

The Denver Western league champions easily defeated the Minneapolis American Association pennant winners in a post-season series which has just been pulled off.

Jim Flynn, one time aspirant for Jack Johnson's heavyweight crown, was attending the world's series games at Boston and New York. He will in a few days journey to the Pacific coast.

When Billy Papke arrived in London the other day and learned that he had been suspended for failing to fight Frank Mantell, he laughed.

"This is a huge joke to me," he said. "When the real facts are known the commission will be glad to take back what it has done. I injured myself the night I was to have boxed Mantell and it would have been most foolish of me to have gone into the ring."

WHITEWATER ELEVEN IS A STRONG TEAM

Janesville Football Players Will Have A Hard Struggle According To The Present Outlook.

If scores serve as any indication, the Whitewater high school eleven may defeat the Janesville team when they meet on the local gridiron next Saturday. Whitewater's defeat of Edgerton, 26 to 0, and Edgerton's defeat of Stoughton, 21 to 7, gives the Whitworth county team a slight prestige over Janesville, who only defeated Stoughton 28 to 0. That was earlier in the season, however, and the local players have steadily improved. Nothing can stop them now, according to Captain Connel.

Jefferson boasted of an improvement since their defeat by Madison high school by the score of 51 to 0. If this is the case, the locals should be on equal footing with Madison, as they surely trimmed Jefferson. It may be possible to arrange a game with the Capitol City boys, if the locals keep up their winning streak. If Janesville can dispose of Whitewater, the two Beloit games and the Watkesha contest will be perhaps easy. This may be the case, as it is reported that Walter will be back at right halfback for Saturday. The boys held a practice last night, which was unusual for the squad on a Monday night after a game. New plays were given and now the team is a master of a score of formations. Kublow is playing left end, and may be a regular man the remainder of the season. A hard week's work is expected by the local squad during which "Defeat Whitewater" will be the slogan.

What promises to be a good preliminary to the Janesville-Whitewater contest on this coming Saturday, will be the football game between the Freshmen and Sophomores. This struggle is an annual one, and a hard contest is predicted. The Freshmen have a heavy team, while the second year men are men with more experience. No player can participate in the game, if he is a member of the first team squad. Blessed is a speedy halfback of the Freshmen class, will captain his mates, while the Sophomore captain is in doubt.

In a practice game last night, the Sophomores defeated the Freshmen by the score of 13 to 0. The Sophomores cannot boast as they had in their lineup, such stars as Louis Hayes, Edward Atwood and Roland Schenk. These men are Juniors and will not play Saturday. A close score can be forecasted.

A great deal of interest was taken at the Jefferson game. A crowd of about 500 turned out, which is a fine delegation for the first home game. If the Whitewater game has such a crowd it may inspire the team as it ring. I will not bother about this New York commission unless it interferes with earning my living. If it does that I shall take the matter to the courts and expose the inner secrets of this joke commission.

The Walworth Australian Rugby football players have come to America to play Stanford University team. When they return home they will have traveled a distance of 14,000 miles.

Arrangements have been made for what will doubtless result in one of the best professional four-ball golf matches of the season, to be held on the links of the Englewood, N. J., Country Club, Oct. 20. J. J. McDermott, of Atlantic City, the national champion, and Tom McNamara, of Boston holder of the metropolitan open title, will try conclusions with Alec Smith, of Oykayak and Jack Hobbs of the home club.

Jim Cameron, a big negro, is the latest pugilist to attract attention on the Pacific coast. Cameron is the biggest man in the boxing game excepting Carl Morris. He stands 6 feet 4 inches in height and tips the beam at 225 pounds. England, too, has a new boxer in Tom Crowder, who stands six feet three inches and weighs 210 pounds.

W. S. Langford has been agreed upon as referee for the annual Harvard versus Yale and Yale versus Princeton football games. It is understood that Dave Fultz will be the umpire of the Harvard versus Yale game, while the same duty in the Yale versus Princeton battle will go to a University of Pennsylvania graduate, either Dr. Carl Williams, or N. W. Morico.

FACULTY CRITIC IS NO LONGER NEEDED

Forum Society Hold Interesting Meeting Without Supervision of A Faculty Member.

The Forum Literary Society had a record meeting again last night without the services of a faculty critic. Order was maintained almost all of the time, the only bad spot occurring during the procedure of the program. A good program was rendered. Carl Frick spoke on "The Impending Naval Review at New York." Walter Greene outlined his summer canoe trip down Rock River. The debate was an exciting one. It was Resolved, That in the interests of World Peace, the United States Begin to Diminish its Proportional War Expenditures. The affirmative consisted of Roy Cannon and Harry Fuchs won a 2 to 1 decision over Stuart Mout and Willard Bennett. Stanley Judd acted as chairman for the program.

Clifford Snyder, who leaves for Canada this week, and who is one of the old members of the Forum, will be missed by the present members. He has been a good classmate among the society members, and his loss will be felt considerably.

New Class Pins. The Sophomores have received their class pins, after being held in suspense waiting for them. The pins are small but are classy in every respect. They are a six-sided figure, with the letters J. H. S. on the upper right hand side, and the figures '15' at the bottom. Forty-seven pins and four rings were received, and another order may have to be sent in as the class are all in favor of their new pins.

COMMERCIAL CLUB HEARS REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON STATE OF THE BRIDGE

James Fifield, F. E. Lane, and Fred Sheldon Presented Report at Luncheon Yesterday.

Report of their findings as to the advisability of making repairs to the Milwaukee street bridge was made to the Commercial club at a meeting of its directors yesterday noon at the Grand hotel. City Engineer C. V. Kerch was present to answer any questions that might be brought up and to obtain the sentiment of the members of the board. The committee did not pretend to pass upon the facts, but thought that if they were as stated to them by members of the Board of Public Works that it would be advisable to re-deck the bridge. The estimate of the cost is $5,000. S. P. Welsh, formerly foreman of bridge construction for the Northwestern railway, believes the piles are good for twelve or fifteen years. In 1902 the bridge was re-built from the piles up at a cost of about $7,000, and new piling was driven to replace those that were unsound. City Engineer Edwin Main of Rockford was to be in Janesville today and inspect the bridge, but because of bad weather he postponed his visit until tomorrow.

SOME SIGNIFICANT FIGURES.
The following table is interesting
because it is reliable. It covers every county in the state and shows
what the taxpayers have paid for modern reform. We have been hypnotized and led around like a lot of dummies. The leaders are still in the saddle and their satellites are instructed to "go out and get the money." Read the figures. Cut them out and paste them in your hat. Go to the capitol and expectorate in the 40 spit box,
and then go home and vote right.

AS GOVERNOR HOARD VIEWS IT.
"Any and every good republican is thoroughly justified in voting the state democratic ticket this year because of McGovern's base desertion of the national republican ticket. Give McGovern and his band of bolters a taste of their own medicine and let them see how they like it. But that is not the only reason. It is pretty near time
we had a governor and a legislature

who will quit squandering the people's money on these up in the air, progressive schemes. It is costing the taxpayers fearfully to keep house with such expensive help. They waste a thousand times what they earn. Did you notice that nowhere in their high
blown platform did they say a word about an economical administration of state affairs? They know better than to mention that. But this is a big question to the taxpayers. It shows
what it means to put men in office
who have neither party loyalty nor loyalty of any other kind. "Progressive treachery" is their watchword."

Ex-Governor Hoard's republicanism
has never been questioned, and the logic expressed in the above paragraph will be endorsed by the rank and file of the party throughout the state. For the first time in the history of the state the republican party is without a state ticket. The men composed of office-seekers, who met in Madison a time ago to make a platform, refused to recognize the national party, or to promise allegiance, and nobody knows today how they will vote. Have they any claim on the republicans of the state?

"ABE MARTIN" ON THE BULL MOOSE.

Kim Hubbard writes an "Abe Martin" piece on the new third party in the November American Magazine. It is entitled "If At Last You Don't Succeed Join a New Party." Following is an extract:
"A new third party comin' int' th'
ring is makin' th' campaign party hot down our back. Th' Bull Moose headquarters, back o' th' barber shop, is in charge o' Chink Marsh. Mr. Marsh is president o' Th' Recall Club an' wuz defeated for sheriff on th' Democratic ticket in 1898 an' later fer th' same office on th' Republican ticket. He has allus been an assistant without pay an' th' Bull Moosers make his seventh third party."

"Th' secretary o' th' Bull Moose
Club is Hon. Syl Artis. Mr. Artis hailed th' mail under Hayes, an' has been township trustee, county assessor, county clerk, county recorder,
county treasurer, county surveyor,
county prosecutor an' twice postmaster, all under th' eagle. He is tired o' bosses an' says he feels that he owes somethin' t' th' people."

"Dink Mopps, th' treasurer o' th'
club, wuz in th' poorhouse two years
under Grover Cleveland an' later identified himself with th' Republican party, where he has since remained in th' rear ranks with a leaky torch. He is a strong advocate o' free silk-
worms an' other items that enter int'
th' daily life o' th' wage-earner. Ther wuz much rejoicin' when word wuz
received by Secretary Artis that Lufe Bud had left his wife an' come over t' th' Bull Moosers. Mr. Bud has lost five hats on Bryan an' gives it as his opinion that T. R. will carry th' state by even a greater majority than he had when Judge Parker wuz defeated
by acclamation."

"AN APPLE OF DISCORD."

(From a paper by Justice William
H. Timlin of the Wisconsin Supreme Court.)
To confer the suffrage upon women
is to throw an apple of discord between husband and wife. If the wife always agrees with and votes with her husband, the effect of the law is merely to give him two votes; if the husband always agrees with and votes with her, the effect is to give her two votes; in such cases the law
is useless. If she is expected to exercise independent political judgment,
this will promote domestic discord
and weaken family ties by the mere fact of disagreement and discussion.
It would be bad if it stopped here;
but in order to make her vote effective, she must act with some organization, frequently supporting
some other man against her husband.
She must meet, confer, canvass, consult and also learn the low practices
and little dirty deceptions of politics
or submit to be over-reached by those who practice such. What of the children who are growing up while father
is working, canvassing or making speeches for Smith on the democratic ticket, while mother is out until midnight with other associates whooping
it up for Jones on the republican ticket? If you are inclined to think this picture overdrawn, just recall
your own experience of the fate of those who attempted to carry on a dignified political campaign.
That's the whole proposition in a nutshell. A large majority of the women do not want the ballot. If

OUR USUAL LUCK.

Thirty schools in Wisconsin have arranged for continuation schools in which industrial education will be the leading feature. This is the maximum number for which state aid was provided by the legislature of 1911; other cities stand ready to establish such schools as soon as future legislative enactments shall entitle them to state aid. There has been raised by local taxation in the thirty cities $200,000,
while the total state aid is limited to $35,000, and this speaks loudly of the faith of people in the value of providing for the educational needs of those whom the regular schools do not reach.

Janesville had an opportunity to be one of the thirty schools included in the industrial school list, but we permitted it to pass unimproved. This is the sort of indifference that has long characterized the town, and yet we wonder why the place don't grow.

"There is no question that many republicans who have voted the republican ticket all their lives have made up their minds to vote for the democrats this year," says the Iron River Pioneer-Republican. "McGovernism will be swamped by a tidal wave of protest on November 5th."

Senator La Follette is a good talker
and a good campaigner, but he is talking against time for his "tar-barrel"
candidate this year. The tax-payers
have had an over-dose of reform.

The Grand Rapids Reporter Republican says: "We won't any of us feel sorry if McGovern gets left—for he ought to."

PRESS AND POLITICS.

Speaking Plainly.
Spooner Advocate: If you want to keep up the taxes and feed the bunch
of politicians down at Madison, vote
for McGovern. He is a Bull-Moose,
but his name is under the word Republican on the ballot. If you think some of these loafing politicians should go to work, vote for Karel. He is a Democrat and is not flying false
colors. His name is on the Democratic ticket.

A Monumental Farce.

Antigo Journal: The election pamphlet is being received by the voters.
It contains only sixteen pages and five pages of that must be paid for by the state. The pamphlet is a monumental farce and in so considered by practically everyone. The next legislature will without question repeal the measure. It is an expense without any apparent benefit. The people generally look to the newspapers for enlightenment of political matters.

He ain't inventin' no new names—
He's a philosopher, is James.

I guess he knows it ain't no use
fer him to pass out the abuse.
Or git mixed up in any way
in this mad adjective-foray.
The cat may jump at his whim,
It really cuts no ice with Jim.

He's placid, quiet and serene.
No one in language that is mean.
Has dug into his past and tried
Upon the fence to hang his hide;
They haven't torn him limb from

They're sort of overlookin' Jim.

About our own vice president.
No mud is being thrown his way.

My Folding Bed.
Oh, how I love my folding bed.
I wake up standing on my head.
I've had it now for many a day
And I have learned to sleep that way.
It is a pessimistic couch.
Which seems to harbor one deep
grouch.
Though to make friends with it, I've tried.
It shuts its mouth with me inside.
I leap into its bosom vast
And hope that leap is not my last.
I wake up every morn all right
Although I'm squeezed up pretty tight.
But still, I think it's one safe bet
That folding bed will get me yet.

From the Hickeyville Clarion.
Last Thursday night folks thought it was summer sure for the crickets was yellin' all evening. They found out later, however, it was only Bud Hicks settin' on the front stoop
of the flour mill windin' his new dollar watch. Bud's new watch is guaranteed to run one year. Bud says by ginger it ought to because it takes about one year to wind it up.

Owing to a break in our machinery,
the Clarion has had to use a foldin'
bed for a printing press this week.
This issue therefore is a little behind time, but not so much so as the majority of our subscribers. Some slicker who don't belong here passed
a counterfeit $5 bill on William Tibbits last week and Tibbits had a fit under the counter. Mr. Tibbits,
who is one of our astute businessmen, dropped the bill in the collection plate at the meetin' house and took $1.95 change. When he counted his change he found five lead ten-
cent pieces, three plugged nickles,
two aluminum quarters and a "Bab-
bit" metal half dollar.

FIND W. KNIPP SOLD MINORS INTOXICANT

JURY BROUGHT IN A VERDICT OF
"GUILTY" LATE LAST EVENING.

WAS SENTENCED TODAY

To Pay Maximum Penalty of Fifty Dollars and Costs—City Council Must Revoke License.

W. A. Knipp, proprietor of a saloon at 413 West Milwaukee street,
was found guilty by a jury last evening of having sold intoxicating liquor
to Harry Berger and Edward Meyer,
minors, aged, respectively seventeen
and nineteen years, on the night of September 30, 1912. He was sentenced this morning by Judge
Charles Fifield in the Municipal Court to pay the maximum penalty of a fine of $50 and costs, amounting to $72.74. In default of payment the city was given the right to levy an execution and remand the defendant
to jail for seventy days. Mr. Knipp paid his fine.

Trial of the case was taken up at about four o'clock before a panel of six jurors. The jurors sworn were Herman Kellogg, R. R. Sherman,
George Davey, John P. Smith, Chas.
Lester, and William Butler. All the state's witnesses had been heard at 5:30 o'clock, when the court adjourned until seven o'clock. The defense
then placed two witnesses on the stand. The attorneys then made their pleas to the jury which went out at about 8:15 o'clock. They brought in their verdict about half an hour later.

Judge Fifield deferred the passing
of sentence until ten this morning.
He stated in passing sentence that
the evidence presented was sufficient to convict the defendant without his admission of guilt, and that his defense was not to be condoned because the appearance of the boys
sold liquor to showed plainly that they were under age.

Upon the conviction of Knipp the City Council is compelled to revoke
his license. According to the state law, upon complaint made in writing
under oath by any resident, and filing with the clerk of any city that any person licensed to sell liquor has sold or given away intoxicating liquor to any minor without the written consent of his parents or guardians, the Common Council shall issue
a summons to be signed by the clerk, directed to any constable
therein, commanding the person thus complained of to appear before them
on a certain day and show cause why
his license should not be revoked.
If upon hearing the Council shall find the complaint to be true, the license shall be revoked. When a license is so revoked, it shall be so entered of record by the clerk, and no other license shall be granted to such person within twelve months of the date of its revocation, nor shall any part of any money paid for any license so revoked be refunded.

The City Council cannot revoke
the license of Knipp until the regular meeting next Tuesday as the law requires that summons shall be served on the person complained of at least three days before the time
at which he is requested to appear.

J. P. Hammarlund, City Clerk, was the first witness to be sworn. He testified that Knipp was the holder of a retail liquor license from the city of Janesville. He had in his possession the license of Mr. Knipp and a copy of the revised city ordinances
which were entered as exhibits.

Harry Berger followed the city
clerk to the witness stand. He testified he was seventeen years and that he had known the defendant, Knipp,
for a year. He had been in his saloon on the evening of September 30
with Edward Meyer and Ed. Blaedorn. They arrived there at about eight o'clock, remained there for about an hour and were served eight or ten drinks. Mr. Knipp himself waited on them. In leaving the saloon they went to the Royal Theater
returning to the Knipp saloon about an hour later. They stayed there until about eleven o'clock, when Mr.
Knipp said it was closing time. Berger did not remember how many drinks they had, but said that he spent $1.25 there. He had purchased drinks in the Knipp saloon on previous occasions. When they left the saloon on the night of the thirtieth,
Berger and Meyer were intoxicated,
but Blaedorn had drunk only soft drinks
in response to the questions of Attorney Fisher, Berger said that he had tended bar for his brother-in-law, Lewis Brummond, while he was at dinner. He had never been in the Knipp saloon with his father. He admitted telling Chief of Police Ap-pley that he had not been drinking
on the night of September 30, but said it was incorrect.

The testimony of Edward Blaedorn
and Edward Meyer corroborated that of Berger in all material points. Blaedorn gave his age as eighteen years.
He said that when he and the other two boys first visited the Knipp saloon they each had four or five drinks. When they returned the same evening they had more drinks,
but he could not say how many; his companions were "feeling good."
When they left Meyer and Berger
had refused to walk home with him,
and asked him to wait awhile. Blaedorn said he spent about $3.00 that evening, of which amount $2 was spent in the Knipp saloon. He did not see John Conlin tending bar. Answering the question of Attorney Fisher he said he had not been to jail to visit Meyer or Berger or talked to Attorney Dougherty or Attorney Nolan concerning what testimony he was to give in this case.

Edward Meyer was the last witness to be called by the state. He gave his age as nineteen. When he left home on the evening of September 30 he had $2.25 and when he returned home he had only fifteen cents. All the rest of the money had been spent for drinks in the Knipp saloon. He did not remember how many drinks they had, but said that they drank about twice as many as they had when they first visited the Knipp saloon. Blaedorn had paid for the theatre
tickets, and Berger for pop corn for the three. Meyer said that he had been in the Knipp saloon and bought drinks several times before, but

highway aid money to any county
has been apportioned to Rock county

receives the fourth largest sum or $10,758.26.

There are three counties in the state
Ozaukee, Sawyer and Washburn,
which will not share in the 1913 state aid as they did not vote for it at the opening caucuses. To the annual fund of $350,000 voted by the 1911
legislature will be added the $28,000
from automobile fees.

Members of Council
Deny Making Raise
in City Tax Rates

Mayor Fathers Brands Report of Thirty Per Cent Increase as False in Every Respect.

"It is an absolute misstatement
from start to finish," said Mayor James A. Fathers this morning when his attention was called to an article in the Janesville morning paper today stating that the City Council had raised the tax rate thirty per cent.
"The tax rate has not yet been determined for the budget has not been made up. Until the budget is completed we will not be able to determine what the rate will be. The statement that the state tax commission adjusted the taxes for the city of Janesville and raised them thirty per cent is also a mistake. It has no authority to do so; its sole commission was to advise the assessment
Members of the City Council have made no explanation of a necessity
of raising the tax rate, for there has been nothing to explain. Neither were the city taxes raised last October. There is not a correct statement of fact in the entire article, and the statements made are self-contradictory."

Members of the Council are unable to discover any foundation for the report, and were quick to enter a denial. The discussion of budget matters will be resumed at the meeting

of the Council this afternoon.

THE COMMON LAW.
In many instances works of fiction lose their true import when adapted for stage presentation. Not so, however, with regard to Robert W. Chambers' famous successful book, "The Common Law," which in the dramatization has not only preserved all of the salient features of the author's purpose but has rather been enhanced in general interest by the addition of a number of deft touches designed especially with the object of holding dramatic interest.

"The Common Law," will have a hearing upon the stage of the Myers Theatre on Friday evening, Oct. 25, and the further distinction of being a dramatization which, while slightly deviating from the connected story of the book, nevertheless giving in minutest detail the strongest possible essence relating to the argument offered in defense of the marriage tie. At the same time there are introduced certain elements of melodramatic as well as sensational qualities to further enhance the story of theatrical import.

Manager A. H. Woods, in order to give the production commanding attention, has been most generous in supplying all the necessary scenic effects including the stage furniture, and at the same time he has not overlooked the fact that much depends upon an intelligent interpretation and in this regard has assembled a company of players all of whom may be confidently relied upon to give a good account of themselves.

"KINDLING."
Sarah Padden, who will be seen here Saturday, Nov. 2nd matinee and night, in Charles Kenyon's great play, "Kindling," has legitimately earned her present high position among America's dramatic stars. Her training was in the school of experience, important recognition of her ability coming with the role of Annie Jeffries in "The Third Degree," a part in which she appeared at more than 600 performances. Her vivid and appealing portrayal of this character, seen in the United Play Company to place her in the stellar role of the most remarkable play of recent years, "Kindling," it is an American drama of laughter and tears, a story quivering with the intensity and pathos of a woman's silently repressed yearning for maternity; a vital, human document blazing forth the bitter injustice that lies at the root of the social system of today. How the man and wife find happiness in far away Wyoming, where their child can grow up straight and strong, is a chapter torn from the heart of life, a message of tender and earnest import to all humanity.

Miss Padden in "Kindling" will prove one of the big events of the season. It is real acting in a real play.

FIND W. KNIPP SOLD MINORS INTOXICANTS

that he had done the same in many other saloons. He had seen other boys of his own age drinking in them.

W. A. Knipp, the defendant, was called to the stand to testify in his own defense. He admitted that Edward Blom were in his place of business on the night of September 30, and that Mr. Conlin had waited on the boys and sold them beer. He could not remember when the boys came in or that they were intoxicated when they left. He did not know the age of the boys and it never occurred to him to inquire.

Attorney Dougherty, inquired of Mr. Knipp if he did not answer to a question in the Bergstrom murder examination on the night of the thirtieth, "I do not remember," and to "Will you state positively that they were not there." They were not there," Knipp answered that he had so stated. He was then asked what had refreshed his recollection. He replied that he had confused the time and that a conversation with his bartender, Mr. Conlin, subsequent to the examination, brought back to his memory the fact that the boys had been in his saloon on the night in question.

John Conlin, bartender for Mr. Knipp, was the last witness to testify. He stated that he had been in the Knipp saloon most of the evening of September 30, and that the boys were in there after ten o'clock. He had waited on them. The boys, when they left were "jolly," but did not stagger. Conlin said that he did not know they were under age, but said he had known Berger for some time and had once attended a dance at his home. He knew that Berger had helped his brother-in-law tend bar.

City Attorney William H. Dougherty, in his plea to the jury, stated that the issue in the case was clear as the defendant had admitted his guilt. He advised them not to be influenced by any collateral issues that might be raised and that it was their plain duty to decide the case according to the law and the evidence presented. The case was one of vital importance, for if a conviction could not be secured when guilt was admitted, law enforcement in Janesville was hopeless.

John L. Fisher, counsel for the defense attacked the evidence given as insufficient and differing too widely to be creditable. The fact that the boys told a different story in their confession was good reason to believe that the evidence they had given in court was untrustworthy. He charged that the city administration was determined to make Knipp the "goat" and let the other violators of the law escape. The prosecution was really persecution. The offense of his client was purely technical and he had no intention to violate the law. The fact that the boys had tended bar for his brother-in-law would give the impression that he was of age, and the appearance of the other boys was such as to deceive. Attorney Fisher's plea throughout was calculated to arouse sympathy for his client. Knipp, he said, was not being given a square deal.

In his response City Attorney Dougherty attacked the plea of the defense, declaring that it was an attempt to cloud the issue. He said the points raised were utterly immaterial, improper, and beside the question.

Another Good Step.

Adrian (Mich.) Telegram: President Taft the other day took a step which attracted little attention in the uproar of politics and the excitement over the shooting of Colonel Roosevelt. He signed an order placing 35,000 fourth-class postmasters under the civil-service rules.

Twenty years ago, when the parties were so hungry for spoils, such a step seemed as distant as the millennium. Now it is a fact and that means that people are getting jobs; that many many fewer political jobs; that many fewer prizes for support; that many fewer active henchmen to bolster up senators and congressmen.

Mr. Butler H. Bates, 72 E. 12th St. Fond du Lac relates: "Kidney trouble bothered me for a long time. I had also a severe pain across my back and other irregularities when I heard of Foley Kidney Pills. I got them and began taking them with the result that the pain left me, and the action of my kidneys became normal and after taking four bottles, I am better than I have been for years." [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Milton, Oct. 22.—The friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Shaw assembled at the Seventh Day Baptist church last evening to join in celebrating the golden wedding of the couple. A reception was held from 7 to 9 o'clock and opportunity given all to tender their hearty congratulations and best wishes to the bride and groom of a half century ago.

Mr. Shaw came to Wisconsin in 1855 and was married at Berlin. Soon after their marriage they removed to Minnesota and after a period of twenty-five years returned to this state. For twenty years this village has been their home.

Among the out-of-town guests last evening were: Rev. Dr. E. H. Lewis of Chicago, Jay Shaw and wife and Henry Shaw of Edgerton, Hiram Davis and wife of Albion, Dr. A. L. Burdick and wife of Janesville, and E. Hurley of North Loup, Nebraska.

Friends present and absent gave the happy couple a purse of one hundred and twenty-five dollars in gold and other valuable gifts. Interesting letters were read from Rev. Dr. Platts, Los Angeles, Cal.; Mrs. Edith Hutchins of New York; Rev. G. W. Burdick of Newton, Iowa; Rev. W. D. Burdick, Parma, Ill.; their sons, Rev. George B. Shaw, North Loup, Neb.; Rev. Edwin Shaw, Plainfield, N. J.; and their daughter, Mrs. Ina Polan, Alfred, N. Y., and their granddaughter, Miss Shaw, and from the Men's Brotherhood of the Milton Junction S. D. B. church. After brief remarks by Mr. and Mrs. Shaw, Rev. Dr. Lewis and others, President Daland rendered several selections on the pipe organ. Those present placed their autographs in a book provided for that purpose.

Why Salves Can't Cure Eczema

Since the old-fashioned theory of curing eczema through the blood has been given up by scientists, many different salves have been tried for skin diseases. But it has been found that these salves only clog the pores and cannot penetrate to the inner skin below the epidermis where the eczema germs are lodged. This—the quality of penetrating—probably explains the tremendous success of the well known liquid eczema remedy, oil of wintergreen, thymol, glycerine, etc., as compounded in D.D.D. Prescription.

HYDROCHLORIC ACID BALLS NOT USED HERE

Golf Balls Which Explode When Tension on Center is Relieved, Not Used on Local Course.

That golf balls containing hydrochloric acid are not at present, and never have been used over the course at the Mississippi golf club grounds is the statement of members of the club today, who say further that the use of such balls on other courses has been abandoned on account of the danger from them. The hydrochloric acid in the center of the ball, which was used in some of the balls made by the Chicago firm, caused the balls to burst, in an accident in Chicago on Saturday, a dentist of that city who cut open one of the spheres containing the acid center, had the acid thrown in his eyes, which will probably result in the loss of sight in one of his eyes and the vision of the other one will be impaired. Other similar accidents have been reported.

The golf balls used by the Janesville players are mostly of two types, with either a solid or a liquid center. Where the center is a solid, it is wound with elastic drawn to extreme tension by a winding machine. Afterwards a shell of pure gutta percha is put on with a mould, great pressure being introduced in the mould. The markings on the ball are also put on the ball in the mould. These markings, it has been found, are necessary to insure a straight flight after the ball leaves the ground, the balls taking a curvilinear course when worn smooth.

When the liquid core is used, the liquid is placed in a small, cylindrical sack, and then the outer coverings are put on. Water is sometimes used because it is without elasticity and the full impact of the blow is received by the ball when the club strikes it. Other makes contain other liquids, the liquid in one well known make being thick and viscid. Another type of golf ball is that with the pneumatic core, compressed air being placed within the center.

DINNER STORIES

Lambert Caspers, a Chicago attorney, told this story at a recent Y. M. C. A. banquet.

A Kansas farmer, a Dane applied for naturalization papers. The judge asked him:

"Are you satisfied with the general conditions of the country?"

"Yes," drawled the Dane.

"Does the government suit you?" queried the judge.

"Yes, yes; only I would like to see more rain," replied the farmer.

When I first decided to allow the people of Tupelo to use my name as a candidate for congress I went out to a neighboring parish to speak," said Private John Allen recently to some friends at the old Metropolitan Hotel in Washington.

"An old darkey came up to greet me and after the meeting 'Marso Allen' he said, 'I's powerful glad to see you. I's know-ob yo' sence yo' wuz a baby.' Knew yo' sence yo' long befo' you wuz borned, po. He used to hold de same office yo got now."

"Members how he held dat same office fo' years ad' years."

"What office do you mean, nule?" I asked, as I never knew pop held any office.

"Why, de office of candidate, Marso John; yo' pappy was a candidate fo' many years."

It had been a hard day at the polls. The addition of nearly a thousand women's votes to the poll made the counting a prolonged proposition.

"Well, James," said Mrs. Wallicky as her husband returned from his arduous labors as a teller, "how did the vote go?"

"Nine hundred and two votes for Bildad, 753 for Slathers, eight recuses for tomato ketchup, four wash lists, and a milliner's bill," said Wallicky. "It was a mighty interesting vote."

Police courts are not always marked by an atmosphere of piety, but the exception to the rule occurred in a court where a very religious man, against whom one of the neighbors had made complaint, was being tried for some trivial offense. The complaining witness was called to the stand to relate his side of the story and the referee listened closely to several minutes. Then his personal feelings overrode court etiquette, and he rushed up to the judge fervently exclaiming: "Your Honor, the brother is lying. Praise the Lord!"

Those Who Can Least Afford Loss of Time HAVE RHEUMATISM.

Sciatica and Neuritis

People who have work to do in the world—who have families dependent upon them and can ill afford to lose time—are the most frequent sufferers from rheumatism, sciatica and neuritis.

The agonizing pains render them unable to carry on their full work—so the whole family suffers, in a sympathetic but none the less distressing way.

Nurzio is a blessing to these people—as it is to all sufferers from rheumatic diseases. It positively relieves the pains with unexpected promptness—usually within a few hours.

It is the prescription of a physician, a well known specialist of high standing, and is thoroughly ethical. Nurzio contains neither opiates nor narcotics, but gives this prompt relief because it is an antitoxin—the first positive one—to the uric acid poison which is the cause of the pain.

Nurzio is making a record for itself throughout the country—proof in affidavit form will be shown you by your druggist, $1 and $2 a box. Magistral Chemical Co., Flatiron Bldg., N.Y. For sale by J. P. BAKER & SON, and all other leading druggists.

A GOOD COUGH CURE

Do you remember the good old cough cure mother used to have? It didn't taste like cherry pie but it did cure a cough in a hurry. Mr. Pfennig, our Graduate Pharmacist and Chemist, makes our cough balsam by percolation direct from the roots, bark and barks of wild cherry, bloodroot, Lobelia, white pine bark. Thereby obtaining the full medicinal virtue and strength of each drug, making it into a syrup we call Badger Cough Balsam. It is made after an old prescription which is today the best cure for any cough, bronchial or lung trouble, healing and soothing to the irritated throat and lungs, it cures by assisting to expel the phlegm from the lungs, not by dosing the system with morphine and chloroform as do the modern patent cough remedies, deadening the nervous system, stupefying the lungs into retarding the mucous, thereby bringing on possible pneumonia and pleurisy. Badger Cough Balsam is a trustworthy expectorant, it loosens up and expels the phlegm. Get a bottle today for yourself or the children. It's safe to use, 25c. [BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Oshkosh, Oct. 22.—Last night at the Methodist Men's club were five speakers who extolled the virtues of the five candidates for president and the meeting was so enthusiastic that those who heard the addresses are willing to have all five men not as president at the same time.

How He Attained Rank.

Some men are fond of being known by a military title. Just where they got the title is often a mystery. Nevertheless, the crop of colonels and majors continues to increase. Col. Julius D. Polk has made a careful study of the subject. "Colonels are divided into two classes," said Colonel Polk, "the colonel of the regular army and the other kind of colonels. I have often been asked how I got the title. It is no mystery. On one occasion I was out with a party of friends and it came my turn to buy the liquid refreshments. One of the party who did not know my name said: 'Colonel, ain't you going to treat?' and that is how I got the rank of colonel."

Satisfied.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure, Send for circular, free.

Not A Matter of Boiling.

Evening Wisconsin: Not a republican in the state will "boil" McGovern. That does not mean that republicans will vote for the Bull Moose candidate for the governorship. It means that as an apostate from the republican party, McGovern is not the republican candidate for the governorship or for anything. Consequently it will not be boiling for the republicans to vote for someone else—and to withhold their support from McGovern will indicate the genuineness of their republicanism.

Still it Persists.

"Conscience," says Uncle Eben, "is only a still, small voice, an' half the time when it tries to speak up it finds dat de line is busy."

What May Be In a Name

THE fortune-teller told me, the girl was saying, "that I haven't my right name. She says to be lucky, you must have a name in harmony with your birth. Mine isn't. And that's the reason I have such hard luck. She says my name ought to be Lily. I sure do have hard luck. I have a notion to change. Would you?"

Her companion's reply was lost in the noise of the train, and the girl looked despondently out of the car window.

"If I thought it would bring me luck," she said, after a little while, "I sure would change it."

"Perhaps that change of name would bring her a change of fortune. But if it did, it would not be for the reason the fortune-teller gave. A far more subtle cause would be at work. It would be a reason from the realm of psychology, and it is doubtful if the fortune-teller tapped this when she made her suggestion. But nevertheless there are grounds for belief that it would produce good effects."

The girl as she was then was most unattractive. Her hair was frowzy and needed shampooing. Her skin was muddy, her waist-soiled, her shoes run down at the heel. She looked unkempt, untidy, and her expression was despondent, and rather bitter. Her whole attitude seemed to say, "I know I won't get work. What's the use in trying?"

And looking the way she did, she wasn't likely to get work. No employer would take her, if there happened to be a neat, bright, smiling girl applying at the same time. And the world is full of neat, bright, smiling girls hunting for work. And even in other fields than that of business, such as appearance and such a mental attitude would turn people away from her. She would not make friends. She would have little pleasant social life.

But now, suppose she changes her name to Lily, as the fortune-teller suggested. The constant hearing of that name "Lily," with its association of cleanliness and purity and beauty, the constant dwelling on the new train of thought it brings, of better prospects, may work a very delightful change in that girl.

When she first hears that name applied to herself, its very newness will, perhaps, startle her into a vivid glimpse of herself as she is, and of what she ought to be, to fully express her new name. Almost unconsciously she will begin to live out this thought of "Lily" that is now dwelling constantly with her. And in a short time, she will be a transformed girl.

Then, the very fact that now she is looking for good luck to come her way will make her hopeful, alert. The despondent lines will disappear from her face, the discouragement from her attitude.

And with these two changes, she is on the road to success.

So, there is more in a name perhaps than one thinks. A name that has associations of dignity and sweetness and loveliness may influence a girl, if these associations are brought to her mind, to grow into the same sort of character the name represents.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 20 years old. I have been going with a man for a year and a half. I thought I loved him and we were engaged. About three months ago I met another young man and soon found he was the right one. I told the first of this to his wife. He got mad and said I had broken his heart and he would never be happy any more. I could never be happy with him. I have promised to marry the one

I met last, in January and will have to run away. What would be a suitable dress? Would it be all right to spend the first night at a hotel? Where would be a good place to marry? What day of the week is the proper one? DISTRESSED GIRL.

It was your right to ask to be released if you felt you could not be happy with your fiancé, but I hope you are very, very certain that you and this other man really love each other and that it is not just an infatuation.

Why must you run away to be married? Be married at home if possible. If you have no home, be married in a friend's home or in your minister's study. Any day in the week is the proper one to marry if it is the right man. After you are married, there could be no objection to your spending a night at a hotel.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 18 years old, fair complexion, hazel eyes, dark hair, am rather slim. (1) Would a white-mesaline silk make a suitable wedding dress for a home wedding? (2) Should I wear gloves? (3) How should I dress my hair? (4) Is it right for a young man to kiss a girl when they are engaged? (5) Is it very wrong to go driving and not get back till after dark? (6) Is it wrong for your intended to stay until 12 o'clock? How long should he stay? (7) Is it wrong to go driving with a young man when your fiancé asks you not to?

ANXIOUS.

(1)—Yes. (2)—Yes. (3)—Very simple. (4)—Of course. (5)—You should get home at a reasonable hour. (6)—Send him home at 10 o'clock.

"Many engaged people grow tired of each other by sitting up till a late hour 'making love.' (7)—If you love your fiancé you will wish to please him and think he has a good reason for not wanting you to go with the other men."

"Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am going with a young lady, but before I went with her she had a gentleman friend she went with about 4½ years, about a month ago she told him she did not care for his company, but now she is afraid he will harm her. What shall I do? She says she likes me better than him. I also care for her."

"If you love each other, get married. Then you can protect the girl."

"Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been receiving a young man's company for two years on an average of twice in three months. He shows the proper respect as well as devotion but since his proposal of marriage he sometimes seems to be in a dreamland, and does not talk as much as I think he should. Should I consider that indifference and return it, or should I not let him know I noticed it and talk on in my usual manner?"

MAUDE.
He is probably quite happy and contented, and likes to be entertained by you.

DO "TWO-MEALERS" LACK A HAPPY EXPRESSION?

A reader asks if it is true as Dr. R. says in a recent magazine article: "I have noticed that those who only eat two meals a day are lacking in the happy expression of those who have three meals a day." Probably most of those who have adopted the two-meal system have been driven to it, or they are a more thoughtful, more serious class, but the fact remains, as the experience of thousands proves that the average adult will have better health and working capacity eating two meals daily than three or four. I am acquainted with as many people who have adopted the two-meal plan as anybody, perhaps, and most of them are optimists, despite the fact that they have been dyspeptic. A better test would be the change effected in individuals. I have been a "two-mealer" for nearly ten years and no one would say that I lack the happy expression, or look hungry, although I prefer to be five pounds below the standard weight rather than five above, and do not object to being recognized as a thinker.

HOUSEHOLD TALKS

Henrietta D. Grauel

Night; they require a steady heat and a delicate touch, but the sweetening, and spicing, and flavoring is all left to the cook, so that when you have mastered the making of the simple egg omelette you have hundreds of variations of the dish to choose from.

"All good cooks invent new dishes, or they are unworthy their high calling."

"Not only is it possible to have new dishes for our delectation but new methods, and these are quite important."

"For broiling a good bed of coals is necessary but this is not always to be had and many gas ranges are not furnished with broilers. Then one must either do without broiled meat or find a substitute. In this case a frying pan heated very hot will answer; indeed pan-broiled meats are excellent. Lay in the steaks or chops they will sizzle and stick at first, but in a moment they can be turned without sticking and if the fire is hot all their natural juices will be preserved almost as well as if they were cooked over the open fire."

"All fresh vegetables that happen to be on hand may at leisure moments be prepared for cooking and placed in cold water until needed to their best improvement."

"There are no cast-iron rules for saving time and strength and money; it all depends upon good judgment; to be a poor manager is equal to a confession of ignorance."

This is a good beginning for the scrap book, so clip it out and paste it in and in a few days, you will see a first installment of "fifteen minute" dishes to add to it. And remember, if you have a household problem to solve you can ask the readers of this column for their help and "easiest way" out of your difficulty.

The Evening Chit-Chat BY RUTH CAMERON

ONCE upon a time I happened to have partial charge of the renting of an apartment. As in almost every experience that brings me into contact with my fellow men and women, I found much to interest, amuse and instruct me. But the individual who left the greatest impression on my mind was neither interesting nor amusing, nor instructive, except in the capacity of a bad example.

She was a girl of eighteen. She came with her mother to inspect the apartment. Perhaps I should say that her mother came with her.

From the moment they began to make comments it was evident that the mother was not used to even the modest degree of luxury which the apartment represented, and it was simultaneously evident that the daughter would stop at no length of rudeness or discourtesy to her mother to hide this fact. Twice she flatly contradicted her mother, again and again she caught her up sharply, and continually she interrupted her.

"How about hard wood floors?" said the mother. "Are they as easy to keep clean as carpets?" "How ridiculous mother," said the daughter sharply. "One would think you never saw a hard wood floor. Of course they are much easier to take care of."

"Electricity is pretty expensive," said the mother. "I was rather hoping we would find an apartment that was piped for gas." At this her daughter cast a perfectly withering glance at her mother. She evidently belonged to that class of people who think it is the one thing to admit that anything costs too much.

"I don't see how you can use it properly, and anyhow I shouldn't be at all contented with just gas."

All through the interview it was quite evident that the girl felt she was making a good impression by attempting to efface her mother.

Needless to say she was not.

Instead, I set her down in my mind as one of the rudest, crudest young girls I had ever met.

For to my mind there is no mistake that stamps a young man or woman as underbred more quickly than such an assumption of superiority and such a display of rudeness toward those to whom they owe all reverence and kindness.

I once knew a young lad from the country whom I thought an exceptionally good product of our American education until, after giving me the pleasure of meeting his fine old father and mother, he made the fatal mistake of apologizing in their presence for their country ways and their grammar.

It is often true that the second generation is superior to its elders in matters of education, of superficial breeding, and in that air of sophistication and accustomedness to luxury which we all like to cultivate. But that does not mean that it is actually superior in things that count. And furthermore, it behooves the second generation to remember that whatever superiority it has gained was probably given it through the efforts of the older folk.

There may be some young people who would be quite indifferent to the reminder that rudeness to their parents is wrong and cruel, but surely there are none who will not be moved when I assure them that it is also underbred and tacky.

A WOMAN'S OBSERVATIONS By Edna K. Woolley

OUR BRILLIANCY COSTS HIGH.

In one column of the recent issue of a newspaper was an article dealing with the increasing abandonment of farms and lack of producers of the nation's food. In another column was an article giving the results of a test in a normal school showing that the young women studying to become teachers all of them, graduates of city high schools and some of them graduates of women's colleges failed to recognize the commonest things of everyday life and couldn't name even a potato plant with the potatoes attached, or recognize an ordinary beet.

In tests of observation it developed that an alarming proportion of these normal school pupils could not name the location of their city's 10 principal public buildings, though none of those in the test had lived less than five years in the city and others had spent all their lives there.

In a class of 100 graduates from the woman's college, 94 were unable to correctly name the branch of a plum tree. This in itself is not so remarkable, for probably the majority of city people wouldn't know a plum tree if they saw it. But this same branch was passed among the 100 pupils a second time and 95 of the class failed to recognize that it was the same bit of plum tree that had previously been examined. This is more significant than the failure to recognize the potato plant or to locate the principal public buildings of the city.

Millions Spent for Luxuries.

In the fiscal year of 1911-12 the people of the United States expended in the purchase of imported luxuries—works of art, diamonds, and other precious stones, champagne and other wines, cigars and cigarettes, lace, embroideries, ostrich feathers, perfumes, cosmetics, etc.—more than $200,000,000. In many of these articles, especially the most important ones, the imports of the fiscal year will, the bureau of statistics tells us, "excel in value those of any earlier year."

Scotch Alarm Clock.

A tourist in rural Scotland took refuge for the night in the cottage of an old lady. He asked her to wake him up early in the morning, warning her that he was quite deaf. Upon awakening much later than the appointed hour he found that the old lady, with strict regard for the proprieties, had slipped under the door a slip of paper upon which was written: "Sir, it's half past eight."

SOME FAVORITE RECIPES.

A delicious frozen dish called, by some, velvet cream, others lemon sherbet and by most of us "So Good," is prepared as follows: Take a pint of cream, a pint of milk, two cups of sugar and the juice of three lemons. Stir all together and freeze.

A delicious home-made cheese may be prepared by adding two canned red peppers to a small cream cheese, adding salt and red pepper, if needed. The addition of a little sour cream improves the cheese and makes it go farther.

Quick Cake.—Into a third of a cup of melted butter break two eggs and fill the cup with milk. Sift together a cup of flour, a cup of sugar and a teaspoonful of baking powder. Mix and bake. Fine served warm.

When baking a pie, use some of the left-over pastry to pat the shells. Roll the crust very thin and bake on the bottom of muffin pans. If care is used in baking and removing the shells will be shapely and perfect. When serving any small amount of creamed vegetable or fish they are a great addition to the appearance of the dish.

Stuffed Tomatoes.—Select small, round, uniform-sized tomatoes, cut a slice from the stem end and remove the pulp with a spoon. Chop fine a slice of onion and a small piece of red or green pepper; cook these in two tablespoonfuls of butter until the onion is yellow; add half a cup of chopped cooked ham and a scant cup of bread crumbs; three tablespoonfuls of melted butter and a fourth of a teaspoonful of salt. Use the mixture to fill the tomatoes and bake in a hot oven, basting two or three times with butter and water. Bake about twenty minutes.

Breakfast Mackerel.—If the fresh fish is not obtainable, soak the salt ones overnight, flesh side down. Place in a dripping pan and cover with water; place in a hot oven when the water is evaporated pour over thin cream. Season, and when hot, serve.

Checking Chronometers.

While the sextant affords the navigator an accurate means of ascertaining his latitude, for longitude he must depend on the chronometer, which cannot be made to run with absolute accuracy, making it necessary to use several of these instruments for checking purposes. The Eiffel tower radio-telegraph station in Paris now dispatches diurnal time signals, enabling all chronometers within range to be checked. This service has been in continuous operation since May 23, 1910. Day signals at 11, 11:02 and 11:04 a. m., and night signals at 12, 12:02 and 12:04 a. m., are sent out, each consisting of a warning signal of dashes and dots, ceasing two or three seconds before the actual time report, which is a single dot.

Cheneyville, La.—"Some time ago when in poor health, suffering from female illness, I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills. I soon felt better and gained in strength and flesh. A gradual improvement continued as I took the Compound, and from 120 pounds I now weigh 155, and feel that my life has been prolonged."

"I deeply regret that I did not know of your medicine long before I did. Friends often speak of the wonderful change in my health, and I tell them that your medicine did it."—Mrs. J. W. STANLEY, Cheneyville, La.

Distressing Case of Mrs. M. Gary.
Chicago, Ill.—"I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for backache and it has certainly made a new woman of me. After my first baby was born I was left a perfect wreck. I was so weak I could hardly do my household duties and suffered with an awful backache. But since I have used your Compound the pains in my back have left me and I am strong again."

"My mother used it also through Change of Life and speaks very highly of it. You can use this letter any way you wish. I think it is only fair for one who has suffered as much as I, to let others know of your great remedy."—Mrs. M. GARY, 2958 N. Ridgeway Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Punishment Strictly Regulated.
The Official Gazette, Tokio, Japan, contains an administrative order giving minute directions as to the method of application of corporal punishment in the Korean peninsula. The culprit shall lie on his stomach, his hands stretched out above his head and fastened. Straps are to be passed round the body and round the knee joints and arms, with the clothes so arranged as to expose the hips. The executioner shall stand with his whip at arm's length, the tip protruding three inches over the edge of the prisoner's body. The executioner's left hand shall be on his left side, palm upwards, the right foot in advance, and bearing the weight of the body. The stroke is to be delivered perpendicularly, and the skin is under no circumstances to be broken. The punishment is to take place one hour after a meal, and the prisoner, if he requires refreshment during the operations, shall be given a drink of fresh water.

Making the Best of It.
Uncle Jack came to visit the family just after his young name-sake had recovered from an attack of the whooping cough. "How did you amuse yourself while you had it?" he asked. "Me and another little boy who had it played Indians and had warwhoops," explained Jack.

COPYRIGHT, 1908 BY THE BOBBY-MERRILL CO.

"I thank your Ladyship," said the man and bowed low.
But the governor's daughter seemed, or affected, not to hear, regarding the other dancers, who likewise had come to a standstill—the two musicians looking up from instruments now silent. A moment yet the young fisherman lingered; seemed about once more to voice his acknowledgments, but, catching the dull eye of a peasant, stepped back instead.

"Sapristi! They might, at least, have waited until the end of the dance!" he muttered, and with a final look over his shoulder and a low laugh, disappeared in the crowd.

"Where are the enemy?" It was the marquis who spoke—in accents he strove to make light and thereby conceal, perhaps, possible annoyance. Coming forward, he looked around toward the point whence the sound had proceeded. "If I mistake not," a note of inquiry in his tone, "it means—a call to arms!"

My lady bit her lips; her eyes still gleamed with the bright cold light of a topos. "Why—a call to arms?" she asked somewhat petulantly, raising her hand to her hair, a little disarranged in the dance.

"Perhaps, as a part of the military discipline," murmured the marquis dubiously. "See!" With sudden interest, he indicated a part of the Mount that had been black against the star-spangled sky, now showing sickly points of light. "It does mean something! They are coming down!"

And even as the marquis spoke, a clatter of hoofs on the stone pavement leading from the Mount to the sand ushered a horseman into view. He was followed by another and yet another, until in somewhat desultory fashion, owing to the tortuous difficulties of the narrow way that had separated them above, an array of mounted men was gathered at the base of the rock. But only for a moment; a few words from one of their number, evidently in command, and they dispersed, some to ride around the Mount to the left, others to the right.

"Perhaps Elise will enlighten us?" Of one accord her guests now crowded around the girl.

"Does the governor intend to take us prisoners?"
"You imply it is necessary to do that—to keep you?" answered my lady.

"Then why?"
Her expression, as perplexed as theirs, answered.
"Beppo!" She waved her hand. The governor's servant, who was passing, with an anxious, inquiring look upon his face, glanced around. "Beppo!" she repeated, and beckoned again.

The man approached. "Your Ladyship wishes to speak with me?" he asked in a voice he endeavored to make unconcerned.

"I do." In her manner the old antipathy she had felt toward him as a child again became manifest. "What do the soldiers want? Why have they come down?"

His eyes shifted. "I—my Lady—"

he stammered.
The little foot struck the strand. "Why don't you answer? You heard my question?"

"I am sorry, my Lady." Again he hesitated. "Le Seigneur Noir has been seen on the beach!"

"Le Seigneur Noir?" she repeated.

"Yes, my Lady. He was caught sight of among the peasants, at the time the barrels were opened, in accordance with your Ladyship's command. I assure your Ladyship, with growing eagerness, 'there can be no mistake, as—'

"Who," interrupted my lady sharply, "is this Black Seigneur?"

Beppo's manner changed. "A man," he said solemnly, "his Excellency, the governor, has long been most anxious to capture."

The girl's eyes flashed with impatience, and then she began to laugh. "Saw you ever, my lords and ladies, his equal for equivocation? You put to him the question direct, and he answers—"

The loud report of a carbine from the other side of the Mount, followed by a desultory volley, interrupted her. The laughter died on her lips; the color left her cheek.

"What?" The startled look in her eyes completed the sentence.
Beppo rubbed his hands softly. "His Excellency takes no chances!" he murmured.

CHAPTER VI.

A Messenger for My Lady.

"So you failed to capture him, Monsieur le Commandant?"

The speaker, the Marquis de Beauvilliers, leaned more comfortably back in his chair in the small, rather bare furnished barracks sitting-room in which he found himself later that night and languidly surveyed the forlorn, frate countenance of the man in uniform before him.

"No, Monsieur le Marquis," said the latter, endeavoring to conceal any evidence of mortification or ill humor in the presence of a visitor so distinguished; "we didn't. But," as if to turn the conversation, with a gesture toward a well-laden table, "I should feel honored if—"

"Thank you, no! After our repast on the beach—however, stand on no ceremony yourself. Nay, I insist!"

"If Monsieur le Marquis insists!" The commandant drew up his chair; then, reaching for a bottle, poured out a glass of wine, which he offered his guest.

"No, no!" said the marquis. "But as I remarked before, stand on no ceremony!" And daintily opening a snuff-box, he watched his host with an expression half-amused, half-ironical.

That person ate and drank with little relish; the wine—so he said—had spoiled; and the dishes were without flavor; it was fortunate Monsieur le Marquis had no appetite.

Whereupon the marquis smiled:

but, considering the circumstance, in his own mind excused the commandant, who had only just come from the governor's palace, and who, after the interview that undoubtedly had ensued, could hardly be expected to find the pate palatable, or the wine to his liking. This, despite the complaisance of the young nobleman whom the commandant had encountered, while descending from the governor's abode, and who, adapting his step to the other's had accompanied the officer back to his quarters, and graciously accepted an invitation to enter.

"Well, you know the old saying," the marquis closed the box with a snap. "There's many a slip—but how," airily brushing with his handkerchief imaginary particles from a long lace cuff, "did he get away?"

"He had got away before we were down on the beach. It was a wild-goose chase, at best. And so I told his Excellency, the governor—"

"A thankless task, no doubt! But the shots we heard—"

"An imbecile soldier saw a shadow; fired at it, and—"

"The others followed suit," laughed the visitor.

"Exactly!" The commandant's face grew red; fiercely he pulled his mustache. "What can one expect, when they make soldiers out of every dunderpate that comes along?"

"True!" assented the marquis. "But this fellow, this Black Seigneur—why is the governor so anxious to lay hands on him? Who is he, and what has he done? I confess," languidly, "to a mild curiosity."

"He's a privateersman and an outlaw, and has done enough to hang himself a dozen times—"

"When you capture him!" interposed the visitor lightly. A moment he studied the massive oak beams of the ceiling. "Why do they call him the Black Seigneur?" An odd sobriquet!

"His father was a Seigneur—the last of the fief of Desaurac. The Seigneurs have all been fair men for generations, while this fellow—"

"Then he has noble blood in him?" The marquis showed surprise. "Where is the fief?"

"The woods on the shore mark the beginning of it."

"But—I don't understand. The father was a Seigneur; the son—"

Bluntly the commandant explained; the son was a natural child; the mother, a common peasant woman whom the former Seigneur had taken to his house—

"I see!" The young nobleman tapped his knee. "And that being the case—"

"Under the terms of the ancient grant, there being no legal heir, the lands were confiscated to the crown. His Excellency, however, had already bought many of the incumbrances against this property, and in view of this, and his services to the king, the fief, declared forfeited by the courts, was subsequently granted and deeded, without condition, to the governor."

"To the governor," repeated the marquis.

"Who at once began a rare clearing-out; forcing the peasants who for years had not been paying tithes, to meet this just requirement, or—move away!"

"And did some of them object?"

"They did; but his Excellency found means. The most troublesome were arrested and taken to the Mount, where they have had time to reflect—his Excellency believes in no half-way measures with peasants."

"A rich jurisdiction," no doubt!

by a thousand rocks; frothing fangs when the tide is low; sharp teeth that lie in wait to bite when the smiling lips of the treacherous waters have closed above! There, the governor's ships have followed him on several occasions, and—few of them have come back!"

"GETS-IT," the New Corn Cure. Guaranteed.

"Corns Gone! GETS-IT Got 'Em!"

"GETS-IT" is the new-plan corn cure that will surely surprise you the very first time you use it. It is so simple, painless, quick and sure in its action.

It shivers up the corn, wart, callous or bunion, separates them from the true flesh, the corn comes off, and there you are, with feet that feel positively glorious; corn-free once more as they used to be in your "barefoot days."

The most remarkable feature is that "GETS-IT" does not harm or cure raw the healthy flesh as other preparations do. It is as safe as water. No more plasters, bandages, or salves.

"GETS-IT" is sold at drug stores at 25¢ a bottle, or sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

Sold in Janesville by McCue & Buss, Smith Drug Co., J. P. Baker & Son, Reliable Drug Co.

A MOTHER'S LETTER

"My little girl's life was saved by Father John's Medicine. My husband, baby and I, all use it. It builds us up, cures our colds and keeps us strong."

Mrs. Harry S. Perlberg
337 Seventh Ave.
Beaver Falls, Pa.

"If you have any difficulty in getting Father John's Medicine from your druggist, write to Father John's Medicine, Lowell, Mass., enclosing one dollar for a large sized bottle, by express prepaid."

Pictures and Religion.

The decision of the pope to allow religious cinematograph shows in Roman Catholic churches in America (on condition that the sacrament is removed) will cause little surprise in this country. In English churches, the use of the cinematograph is almost unknown. There are exceptions, however. That energetic cleric, the Rev. Wilson Carlisle, finds the cinematograph a help to his popular church army services at St. Mary-at-Hill, and we believe "living pictures" of sacred subjects are occasionally to be seen in a church at Brompton. A little over a year ago Father James Adderley of Birmingham started a newspaper campaign on behalf of the cinematograph in the services of the church, but nothing seems to have come of it. Yet it is hard to see the difference between a cinematograph service and a magic-lantern service, and lantern services have been held for years in every part of the country.—Manchester Guardian.

Dick Turpin Pistol Found.

In the removal of a plaster ceiling and oak paneling of the Jacobean room in the famous Reindeer inn at Babbury, England, which has been bought by Lord Curzon of Kedleston, workmen found in the rafters a double flintlock horse pistol inlaid with gold, inscribed, "Presented to Dick Turpin at the White Bear Inn, Drury Lane, February 7, 1735."

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, October 22, 1872.—The Norman stallion justly famed of the massive build, purchased by Thomas Bowles and J. Peculiar to the genuine Norman G. Hayner has arrived. He is a stallion, possessing the great strength

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY.
Do not be too quick to give support to the schemes of others. It will be more profitable for you to consider a proposition without prejudice and to decide on it according to reason, regardless of inclination. If you are employed you should be especially careful in the near future.

Those born today will be too generous for their own welfare and their ill-considered gifts may cause some people to avoid them, who would otherwise be their best friends. Their early training should be to look to the future and to balance generosity with judgment.

Powers Wasted.
"As a rule, men habitually use only a small part of the powers which they actually possess, and which they might use under appropriate conditions."—William James.

Happiness Within Us.
Our happiness mainly depends on the freedom that reigns within us; a freedom that widens with every good deed and contracts beneath acts of evil. Not metaphorically, but literally, does Marcus Aurelius free himself each time he discovers a new truth in indulgence, each time that he pardons, each time he reflects a master-luck.

How Many People See An Auction Bill?

"You get, say 150 bills. If every single bill were seen and read by five people, a high estimate, you would reach 750 people.
But the average is not nearly so high. A great many are not read by more than one or two; some are not read at all; some are destroyed or lost.
If your bill is seen by 500 farmers (not city and village people) and read clear through by 100, you are lucky."

NOW LISTEN

If you spend a little more and put your list in The Daily and Semi-Weekly Gazette, it will be printed about 8,000 times — not 150! and it will go into the homes of over 5,000 farmers. And every one of them will read it through.
Wouldn't TEN dollars in advertising be cheaper than one dollar in bills? Ask any man who has tried both.
